1. CONFLICT WITH IRAN (BREAKING)

IRAN SAYS CONFLICT WITH US 'LIKELY' TO RESTART AFTER TRUMP REJECTS PROPOSAL

A senior Iranian official said that fighting with the US was “likely” to resume after US President Donald Trump said he was dissatisfied with Tehran’s new proposal, Iranian media reported on Saturday. Iran’s Fars cited Mohammad Jafar Asadi, a senior figure in the Iranian military’s central command, as saying that “a renewed conflict between Iran and the United States is likely.”

The IDF, in light of this, was reported by Kan to be preparing for the possibility of the US resuming strikes on Iran. This comes after Reuters reported that an Iranian proposal rejected by Trump would open shipping in the Strait of Hormuz and end the US blockade of Iran while leaving talks on Tehran’s nuclear program for later, a senior Iranian official said on Saturday.

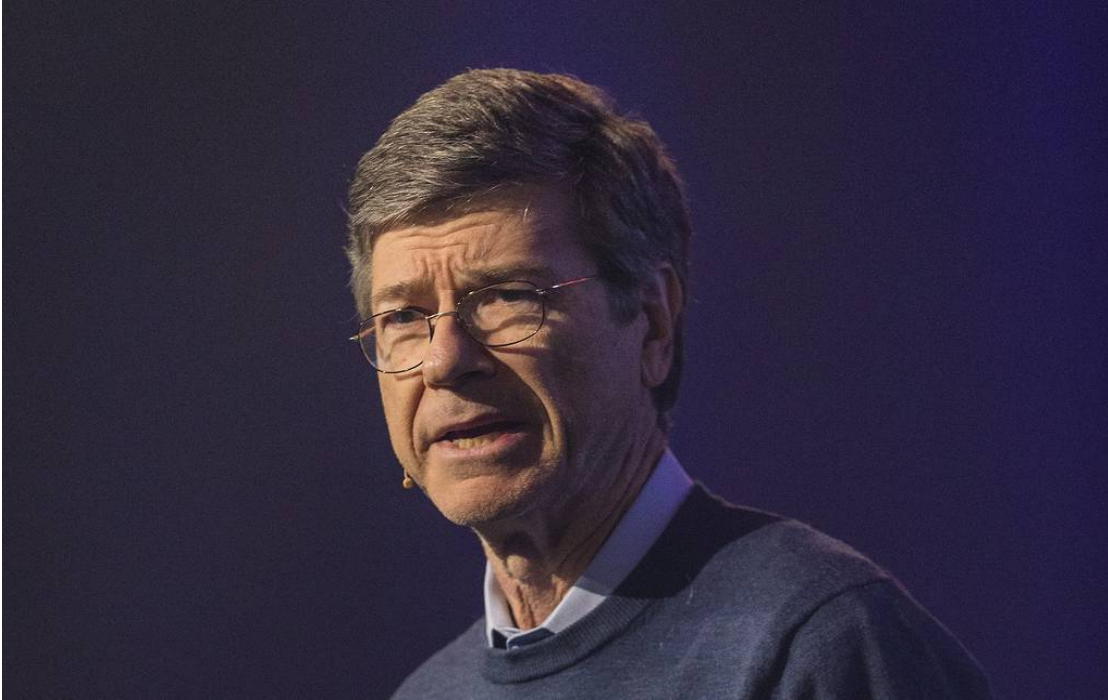

Four weeks since the United States and Israel suspended their bombing campaign against Iran, no deal has been reached to end a war that has caused the biggest disruption ever to global energy supplies.

Iran has been blocking nearly all shipping from the Gulf apart from its own for more than two months. Last month, the US imposed its own blockade of ships from Iranian ports.

Trump said on Friday that he was “not satisfied” with Iran’s latest proposal, without detailing which elements he opposes. “They’re asking for things that I can’t agree to,” he told reporters at the White House.

RESUMPTION OF HOSTILITIES AGAINST IRAN MAY LEAD TO NEW WORLD WAR – JEFFREY SACHS

The United States should not resume its military operation against Iran because the conflict may uncontrollably escalate into a world war, a renowned American economist and Director of the Center for Sustainable Development at Columbia University (New York), Professor Jeffrey Sachs said.

“We should be avoiding a return to outright bombing, to renewed military action. That’s a very real possibility. And the other possibility, in my view, is pretty much an uncontrolled escalation into full blown war that would become a regional war, and that could become a world war,” he told journalist Tucker Carlson in an interview.

The expert went on to say that if attacks on Iran resume, Tehran will “strike back, and strike back very hard and very rapidly.”
